Our Day in the Life Camp provides aspiring Division I basketball players a sense of how an NCAA Division I program works and what is involved in being a D-1 student-athlete. This camp will be run by our University of Dayton coaching staff and players. It will feature high intensity skill development and games, and will also have presentations for the campers on various aspects of college basketball life. Strength and conditioning, scouts, academics, and interaction with the media will be presented to the campers. This camp will give serious basketball players a good understanding of the commitment required to play Division I college basketball.
